Woman killed Returning from wedding

PONTOON BEACH — Hours after celebrating her daughter's marriage, a Granite City woman died Saturday night when a car driven by her husband collided with another car on Horseshoe Lake Road at Arlington Drive.

Muriel C. Langenstein, 54, was pronounced dead at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, after her husband, Jan L. Langenstein, 54, turned in front of a car driven by John W. Blasingame, 51, of Granite City.

Authorities said it appeared that Langenstein was at fault. They said Blasingame was westbound on Horseshoe Lake Road at 11:10 p.m. when Langenstein, eastbound, turned in front of him.

Blasingame's car struck the Langensteins' car right in front of the passenger's door. Muriel Langenstein was pronounced dead from head and chest injuries at 11:52 p.m.

There are no stop signs on Horseshoe Lake Road where the accident happened.

Jan Langenstein was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, then transferred to Barnes Hospital in St. Louis, where he was listed Monday in critical condition under intensive care.

The Langensteins were en route home after attending a wedding reception for their daughter, Jill, at the Polish Hall in Madison.

Blasingame was treated and released at Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

Pontoon Beach Police Chief Chet Balow said a police officer interviewed Blasingame at the hospital and determined that he was not intoxicated, so no blood alcohol test was administered.

Balow said Jan Langenstein was unable to talk to police after the accident.

Lt. Mike Crouch said Monday he was going to ask the State's Attorney Office to subpoena SEMC's medical records on Langenstein. Hospital personnel would normally test a person's blood for alcohol and drugs before administering medication, he said.

Muriel Langenstein worked as a postal clerk for 25 years at the Granite City Post Office.

Jan Langenstein owns the Langenstein Insurance Agency, 3230 Nameoki Road.

Blasingame is an insurance broker for Coldwell Banker Star Realtors.

Crash jolts funeral trip

GRANITE CITY — A two-car accident at Pontoon and Nameoki roads sent passengers in a funeral procession to the hospital Monday.

Two or three persons were taken by ambulances, according to conflicting reports.

A car driven by Dorothy A. Cruse was part of a funeral procession northbound on Nameoki Road, but was lagging behind the other cars, a police report said.

Mearwhile, a car driven by Michelle L. Laird of Granite City was stopped at a red light eastbound on Pontoon Road. The light turned green and Laird started across the intersection. Her car was struck by Cruse's car and overturned.

A police report said Laird was taken to St. (See CRASH, Page 12A)

Two Granite residents arrested for cannabis

WATERLOO — Two Granite City residents were charged April 18 with felony possession of cannabis after being arrested the evening of April 16 following a routine traffic stop by a county deputy north of Waterloo on Route 3.

Charged with unlawful possession of more than 30 grams but not more than 500 grams of a substance containing cannabis (marijuana) were Darla Eugenia Kingsley, 22, of 2204 Guth St., and Matthew Douglas Francis, 20, of 2629 State St. Kingsley was released after posting $500 bond.

Francis was still in the Monroe County Jail on Friday with his bail set at $20,000.

According to the Monroe County Sheriff's office, the car where the cannabis was found has been confiscated because it was used in the alleged commission of a felony.

The car was reportedly owned by Kingsley's father. Sheriff Dan Kelley said the exact weight of the marijuana found in the car has not been determined because the state crime lab report has not been returned. However, he said it definitely was enough to warrant the felony charges.

Kelley, who said the officer making the traffic stop saw a small amount of marijuana in the car and then searched the car further, finding the larger amount. Local authorities are continuing their investigation into the case.

Boat rams truck, men die

struck the cab of the pickup truck driven by Roland. George Miller, 75, of Alton, a passenger in the truck, was also killed.

The boat reportedly also struck a car, whose driver was not injured, according to police.

Police closed I-270 for three hours during cleanup. Officers reported no charges filed.

Concrete 'playground' elimination promised

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A jumble of hazardous concrete slabs at the old Kienstra Concrete Co. plant on Circle Drive will be broken up, said the company's president, Chris Kienstra.

Concerned residents and some parents of children who had been playing on and under the massive piled up slabs called the Journal last week to complain about them. A phone call to the company's president brought a swift response.

Kienstra said he would investigate the matter and he was good as his word. Without knowing that a Journal reporter would be there, Kienstra showed up less than 30 minutes later to look at the site.

He explained that the concrete had been dumped years ago on top of a pile of cinders. Then, about 10 years ago, a local construction company asked if it could reclaim the cinders under the concrete. The company brought in heavy equipment and tilted a number of the slabs to get at the cinders.

Children have apparently further excavated under the slabs to make small caves to play in.

Neighbors were worried that vibration from trains on the nearby Norfolk & Western Railroad tracks could cause a slab to collapse on a child.

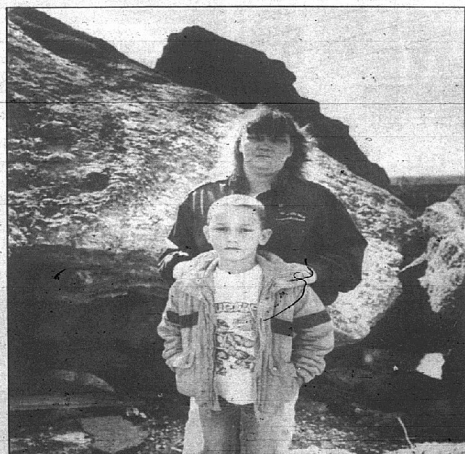

"We're concerned about kids getting in there and it caving in," said Bob Porter. "We pay our taxes, but it seems like we're not part of the city."

Another resident and parent, Cherie Patrick, said there is a tunnel under an old foundation that kids tell her runs all the way under the railroad spur and Missouri Avenue to A.O. Smith. She wants it blocked. She said her son and another boy have come back from playing in the tunnel and were wet to the waist from water that collected in the tunnel.

Aldermen Dan Partney and Dan Brown both said they had made efforts in the past to get the site cleaned up. Partney said had put the matter in the hands of Building Inspector John Jaklich months ago.

Brown said he had taken City Inspector Vince Scrum and Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield by the site last week.

"Vince (Scrum) was going to call Kienstra and if he didn't do anything, Mac (Warfield) was

Assault alleged, man and youth arrested

A man and a 16-year-old youth were arrested and charged after an incident in which the man allegedly flourished a knife at another man.

Arthur Monroe Glynn, 21, of the 1300 block of Meridian Avenue was charged with aggravated assault and contributing to the delinquency of a child.

The youth was released to his mother, pending a juvenile petition being filed against him for aggravated assault.

The arrests occurred after an officer on patrol was flagged down at the 7-Eleven Store at 19th Street and Cleveland Boulevard by Gary Walliser of the 1200 block of Niedringhaus Avenue.

Walliser, 25, alleged a man had pulled a knife on him and then continued to walk south on Cleveland Boulevard toward 18th Street.

Walliser said someone had damaged his girlfriend's car and two men were seen leaving the alley behind her residence. He said he had approached the two and asked them about the tire damage and they said they were not responsible but began laughing. When he got out of the car, Walliser alleged the man, later identified as Glynn, held a knife and began poking the weapon at him.

The assailants fled the scene.

Granite City

When Walliser's girlfriend got out of another car with a pool stick and he held a car jack, Walliser told police.

The patrolman had stopped and questioned two men at 17th Street and Grand Avenue shortly before Walliser's report. One of the men had identified himself as Glynn and said he was walking home, a report said.

The officer followed the route the men had been walking and located Glynn and the youth at 13th Street and McCambridge Avenue. Although acknowledging a confrontation had occurred, both denied having a knife.

At headquarters, police learned a knife had been hidden under a seat in the squad car. A large hunting knife with a 7 1/2-inch blade was recovered from the police car, a report said.

same address alleged being punched by the suspect in the left eye and chin during an argument.

As a patrolman was walking Foley toward the squad car, the suspect lunged at Heine and hit her in the back of the head with her fist, a report said.

Officers separated the two women and arrested Foley. Heine sustained redness and swelling to the right side of her face. Strands of hair apparently had been pulled from the victim's head, police said.

Kids set the TREND

For many teen-agers, the weekend is the time for mall-walking, partying and otherwise searching for that elusive commodity — fun. For some teens, it also is the time for alcohol or other drugs.

It doesn't have to be that way, say young people who are members of the organization TREND, an acronym for Turning Recreational Excitement in New Directions.

This weekend, members of TREND will demonstrate they can have fun and still say "I'm Free For The Weekend."

After signing a pledge to remain alcohol- and drug-free for the weekend of April 27-29, individuals may purchase an "I'm Free For The Weekend" T-shirt for $7 and will receive a coupon book entitling them to free items or sizable discounts at area businesses.

Businesses taking part in the campaign and offering special discounts include McDonald's and Rax restaurants, Six Flags Over Mid-America, Blockbuster Video, Streetside Records, Saints Olivette Family Roller Skating Center and merchants at Chesterfield Mall, Crestwood Plaza, Northwest Plaza and St. Louis Centre. The program is co-sponsored by TREND and KPLR-TV (Channel 11).

With the help of a grant from the Monsanto Fund and staff support and guidance from the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse, the TREND program was founded in the fall of 1987 and since has grown to 90 chapters. For information call 314-962-5124.

Simon, Martin raising millions to finance their 1990 Senate campaign

By Jason Moody
Staff writer

WASHINGTON — Gearing up for what could become one of the most expensive Senate races in the country, Sen. Paul Simon and his opponent, Rep. Lynn Martin, have collectively raised more than $2 million in the last three months, the latest campaign records show.

Simon, the Democratic incumbent, has taken an early lead in the fund-raising sweepstakes, garnering more than $1.2 million in 1990, with over half from sources outside of Illinois, according to Federal Election Commission (FEC) records.

Meanwhile, Martin, a Republican, raised $14,107 during the reporting period spanning the year's first quarter. She relied heavily on political action committees (PACs), the FEC records show.

"As the campaign progresses, fund-raising activity is going to increase and so will the response rate," said Elen Golin, a press aide for the Simon campaign.

Although both Illinois lawmakers were successful in attracting donors willing to give the legal limit — $1,000 for individuals and $5,000 for multi-party PACs — they showed differences in their techniques.

More than 60 percent of Simon's total came from sources outside the state, compared to 14 percent for Martin's.

However, Martin relied more heavily on PAC gifts, which accounted for more than 33 percent of her total contributions.

"Paul Simon is well known and appreciated throughout the county, partly because of his (1988) presidential bid," said Golin, referring to the Illinois Democrat's out-of-state contributions.

"Martin believes that it is better to try and raise money from the groups you are going to represent," responded Alisa Parenti, a press aide for the Loves Park Republican.

With more than six months to go before the election, campaign finance is likely to become a more sensitive issue for both candidates as they are forced to solicit funds from a variety of special-interest groups and wealthy out-of-state donors just to stay even.

The lawmakers will also be under heavy pressure when Congress begins debate on major campaign finance reform later this year.

Most of the legislation is aimed at limiting contributions from PACs and out-of-state donors as well as total campaign expenditures.

Simon has endorsed stringent campaign finance reform while Martin has yet to take a stand on any of the pending bills, according to spokesmen for the two candidates.

"We are going to continue to do whatever we can to raise money," said Parenti, defending Martin's large PAC funds.

"In a race where each candidate is expected to spend about $7 million, we can't eliminate any opportunities," Simon has $1.5 million in his campaign account while Martin has $409,952 in her's, the FEC records show.

Senior park dedicated in Chouteau Township

By Maxine Duniphan
Correspondent

Members of the Chouteau Township Senior Citizens club who are building a small park adjacent to the Township Social Center grounds at 906 N. Thorngate Drive officially named the park on March 29.

Golden Acres Senior Park was announced as the name during dedication ceremonies at the site. The event was moved indoors due to rainy weather.

Lefty Stark, club president, gave the welcoming address. He recounted what the group had accomplished thus far and cited some goals for the project when the weather improves.

Floyd Jordan, who represented the Boy Scouts, and Vicky Pearson, who represented the Girl Scouts, presented the colors. Lucy Colbert of the Faith Chapel General Baptist Church gave the invocation.

Pres. Stark introduced Morris Miles, Chouteau Township supervisor, as the guest speaker. Miles recalled the many preliminary steps that were necessary to get the park project started and told how the club had worked to bring the concept this far. He also discussed financing and complimented the seniors on their accomplishments.

Stark announced the name of the park, chosen from 57 names submitted in a "name the park" contest held by the club in February. He asked Lucy Colbert, one of the club members, to read the following poem which she had written especially for the occasion:

"A Tribute to Our Park.

"This park is dedicated to the people of this town. We hope that you enjoy it as you stop and look around. You may take a walk across it, and enjoy the lovely view."

"See the flowers and the wild life, and give a smile or two. You may meet a friend or neighbor, and stop to chat awhile. It gives your heart a special lift to share a word or smile."

Many local businesses, organizations and individuals were recognized:

Roberts and Dybdahl Lumber for timbers used to build low-water bridges over wet areas of the walking trail; Union Electric for chips used to cover the walking trail; Illinois Power for utility poles used for bridge supports, pavilion uprights and split-rail fence corners at the corners of the park; Granite City Glass for setting the uprights for the pavilion; and Granite City Magna Bank for the park bench.

Other contributors included: Chouteau Township Quilters, who donated three flowering crabapple trees and a handmade quilt utilized to raise operating funds; the Audubon Society, which is making bird boxes that will be set soon; the Chouteau Township Highway Department, for clearing away debris and dead trees from the park area; and seniors, who did the labor.

Following the ceremonies, refreshments were served. Music was provided by the Silver Strings, a country and western group sponsored by the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP). The RSVP is one of the programs operated under auspices of the Programs and Services for Older Persons through Belleville Area College.

Active agenda for local Young at Heart

The Young at Heart Senior Club met March 19 at the Community Center of Holy Family Catholic Church.

An appreciation dinner and dance for all registered parishioners will be held May 12. Joe Balcer reported. Tickets may be obtained from the church office. Reports were read by Secretary Billie Schuler and Treasurer Cele Mance.

Helen Todoroff, Church Women United representative, announced a May fellowship meeting will be held at Trinity Methodist Church on May 4.

Bertha Wasylak reported the Legion of Mary will attend a Mass dedication ceremony in Bethalto on Sunday, May 27. Irma Manning said a trip for members to Springfield is being planned for May 18.

The nominating committee presented a slate of officers for 1990-91. An election will take place at the April meeting.

A corned beef and cabbage dinner, catered by Jerry's Restaurant, was served to members and guests prior to the meeting. Guests included the Rev. William Fisher, the Rev. Casey Kimal, the Rev. Tom Wise, Sr. Mary Angelina, Sr. Margaret Mary, Sr. Mary Alice and Sr. Stanley.

Remainder of the evening was spent at games. Winners were Bill Zinn, Louise Gwasdec, Zita Bequette, Winifred Bringer, John Danco, Adele Balcer, Warren Bequette, Katherine Obuchna, Art Lindner, John Julasz, Vincine Zerlan, Marcel Patton, Katie Fedora, Irene Makarowitz and Francis Vivod.

March of Dimes sets 6 walks

"WalkAmerica for Healthier Babies," a 12-mile walk that is the March of Dimes' biggest annual fund-raising event, will start at 9 a.m. Saturday, April 28, at six area locations.

Pledges are based on the distance walked.

The March of Dimes' local goal is $500,000; the 1989 campaign raised more than $500,000, said Wayne Perze, volunteer chairman for the 1990 WalkAmerica campaign and district manager for K mart.

K mart is one of the principal sponsors of WalkAmerica, which is celebrating its 20th anniversary.

"Eighty-seven percent of all funds raised goes for grants, hospitals and care units in the fight for healthier babies," Perze said.

and St. Louis Children's Hospital.

Registration for the Saturday event will be from 7:30 to 9 a.m. at these walk sites:

- Soldier Memorial Plaza in St. Louis.
- Blanchette Park in St. Charles.
- Bellevue Park in Belleville.
- Gordon Moore Park in Alton.
- City Park in Edwardsville.
- Sunset Park in Festus.

Those unable to attend the walk Saturday will be able to participate in the "Starlight Stroll," beginning at 5:30 p.m. May 3 in the upper parking lot of the Muny Opera in Forest Park, Perze said. Registration is from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Participants are eligible to win several prizes, including WalkAmerica T-shirts, Cardinals tickets, an exercise bike and a cordless telephone.

People ages 18 and older who complete the walk or stroll are eligible for a chance to win a 1990 Mercury Cougar 1.6.

For more information, persons may call 618-344-1697.

Ceremony at old Dam, Locks 26

The Bi-State Development Agency, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the St. Louis Port Advisory Council will host a decommissioning ceremony at 2 p.m. May 11 for the Henry T. Rainey Dam, known as old Locks & Dam 26.

The one-hour ceremony will take place opposite the old locks and dam, in the Riverfront Park of Alton.

Expected to attend are federal cabinet members, members of the Congressional delegation from Missouri and Illinois, Gov. James Thompson of Illinois, hundreds of dignitaries and invited guests, and the general public.

A ceremonial explosive charge will culminate the event, symbolizing the beginning of demolition of old Locks & Dam 26.

The Melvin Price Locks and Dam have been built two miles downstream.

Urban League will give awards at annual dinner May 8

The Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis will honor recipients of its Awards of Merit at the league's annual dinner May 8 at the Clarion Hotel.

The honorees are Charles F. Knight, Earl Lazerson and Martin L. Mathews.

Lazerson, president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, is being lauded by the Urban League for creating numerous educational opportunities for minorities and the disadvantaged.

Alien arrested before crash

By Jason Moody
Staff writer

WASHINGTON — Immigration and Naturalization Service head Gene McNary said April 20 he would meet with Sen. Paul Simon to discuss an El Salvador native convicted of killing two people in a Collinsville traffic crash.

However, when asked by Simon why the INS showed little interest in Jose Ramon Orantes-Pleties when he was first arrested by local police in early December for trespassing at Scott Air Force Base, McNary said such cases were not a "priority."

"It's not a priority enforcement situation for our people," McNary told Simon at a Senate Judiciary hearing.

Although Orantes-Pleties had just skipped his New York deportation hearing when Collinsville Police first apprehended him in early December, they released him after the INS did not respond to calls for assistance.

Just 12 days later Orantes-Pleties stole a pickup truck and accidentally struck and killed Wade Brake, 14, and Roland Cox, 37, the latter of Pontoon Beach, at a Christmas tree lot.

"If the INS is going to prioritize who they pick up, those who have just broken the law should be first," said John Trassvina, a chief counsel for Simon, after the hearing.

Although McNary did not set a date for the future meeting, the former St. Louis County executive sent a response late Friday to questions Simon posed at the hearing earlier that day.

"What it comes down to today, Senator, is that 1,300 investigators cannot effectively respond to over 100,000 queries for assistance from local police departments in a given year," McNary said.

"We must, like any agency, set priorities," McNary said. "Our enforcement priority is the identification, tracking, and removal of the alien convicted of a crime."

"If illegal aliens are found guilty, the INS begins deportation proceedings after they serve their prison sentences."

Enterprise zone here expanded

By John D. Milazzo
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — The Madison County Board on April 18 approved an expansion of the Southwestern Madison County Enterprise Zone, consisting of areas of Granite City, Madison and Venice.

The zone was established in December 1984 and the 62-square-mile expansion approved by the board brings the size of the zone to 10.59 square miles, according to Rudy Papa, D-Bethalto, of the board's Grants Committee.

Papa said Madison and Venice municipal officials asked for the expansion to bring several additional businesses under the zone's umbrella.

He said the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs administers enterprise zones and has set a maximum 15-square-mile area for each such zone.

An enterprise zone brings various benefits, Papa said, including an exemption from sales taxes for building materials.

McDonnell retains big defense role

By Sabrina Eaton
Staff writer

WASHINGTON — Faced with a shrinking Pentagon budget, McDonnell Douglas wants to retain its prominent role in defense while shifting some of its resources to its civil aviation and space programs, a company official said April 20.

Speaking before the annual conference of the Aviation/Space Writers Association, McDonnell Douglas vice president Ronald L. Kerber said the firm is counting on a strong market for its commercial aircraft and modest growth in the space market to help compensate for any defense losses.

Kerber, who served as U.S. deputy secretary of defense for acquisition before working at McDonnell Douglas, said the company will remain a leading contractor in the Space Station Freedom, Delta Rocket Launch Vehicle, and Strategic Defense Initiative programs.

He also predicted that retrofitting and modification of existing weapons systems will remain a corporate strength, and that weapons systems focusing on surveillance and mobility will still be needed by the U.S.

"The R&D (research and development) segment will also remain high," Kerber said. "We hope to keep our capabilities up in order to have the menu of possibilities for the future."

Kerber said the company is hoping that international sales of the F-15 Eagle fighter, the A-10 Thunderbolt II, and the Apache attack helicopter will boost revenue, although he criticized the U.S. government for discouraging military exports.

"While governments in Europe and elsewhere are doing everything they can to promote military exports, the U.S. all too often discourages or restricts sales even to our close allies," Kerber said, calling on the government to correct problems.

"Clearly, our national security is based both on defense and economic strength."

While upcoming defense cuts could cancel production of the Eagle fighter, Harrier jet and Apache helicopter unless Congress restores funding, Kerber said that other McDonnell Douglas systems are fairly secure.

The F-15 Navy Strike Fighter is strongly supported by the administration and Congress, although the company is worried about reductions after 1991.

"In that program we have also been successful in foreign markets," Kerber said. "Over the last two years, we have won major competitions in Switzerland, Kuwait and Korea."

McDonnell also has a big stake in the B-2 bomber, C-17 cargo plane, Advanced Tactical Fighter (ATF) and Advanced Tactical Aircraft (ATA) programs, and the firm expects to get some of those contracts.

MD has "an excellent chance" of winning the ATF contract, but Defense might buy more modified F-15 fighters if the ATF program is stretched, he said; however, the firm would not delay ATF research to drum up F-15 orders.

The previous day's critical Government Accounting Office review of the Apache helicopter "singled out all the negatives and left out all the good things" and improvements in the program, Kerber said, conceding that it might hurt marketing.

Big Brothers in area make big difference

Men and women who share their lives as Big Brothers and Big Sisters are being honored April 22-23. Volunteer Appreciation Week salutes those who serve as friends, mentors and role models.

In St. Clair and Madison counties, more than 100 children from single-parent homes are matched with Big Brothers and Big Sisters.

These children, ages 7 to 14, need a friend and a "hero" — someone to assist in guiding them through the challenges and difficult decisions they must face while growing up, decisions that affect a lifetime.

"Single parents have their own challenges, especially if they must work. Sometimes there is just not enough of mom or dad, or their time, to go around," a spokesman said.

"Big Brothers and Big Sisters understand that and provide a one-to-one friendship, giving kids added support which increases their self-confidence and helps them in relationships both at home and at school."

Dave Jones of Granite City has a Little Brother, Judiah. Dave says it's fun having someone to spend time with and who really wants to learn things.

They have gone fishing, go-cart riding, and on miniature golf outings. Over the winter, they practiced shooting pool and they both improved their game.

Dave and Judiah have shared many special moments, but one that stands out in both their minds is when Judiah served as a groomsman in Dave's wedding. Judiah even had an opportunity for his first dance at the reception.

"Kids are different in some ways than when I was young because a lot of things have changed. But all kids still love to have fun," Jones said. "It's a good learning experience for me, too, and it helps keep me young. I would recommend the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program to everyone so they can make a difference in a child's life for the better."

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Southwestern Illinois currently has more than 150 children waiting to be matched with a special friend. Most of them, 77 percent, are boys.

Considering that in the next decade, one of every two families will be headed by just the mother or father, the group's services are needed now more than ever, said the BBBSSI's contact person, Ann, 636-9667.

Drug education program launched by Elks in Granite City

A drug awareness education program is being launched by Granite City Lodge 1063 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. The goal of the program is to prevent drug abuse by educating youngsters and parents about the physical and mental consequences of using illicit drugs.

Paul Schrage, exalted ruler of the lodge for the coming year, said, "The Elks are confident that, given the facts, our children will decide for themselves that drug abuse is dangerous."

"They can then be better equipped to avoid the temptation to experiment with drugs."

"Our program is designed to provide kids with the facts and dispel popular myths and misinformation about so-called 'harmless' drugs," Schrage added.

The Elks program targets marijuana, cocaine, alcohol and tobacco specifically.

Marijuana is the most widely used illicit drug and is recognized as a "gateway" drug, leading to use of other drugs.

Cocaine, along with "crack," has the most rapidly increasing usage in the country.

Alcohol is the most widely abused drug among teenagers, according to the American Council for Drug Education, one of the resources for the Elks program.

"Awareness is the key to prevention," said Schrage, and the Elks want kids and their parents to become educated to the perils of drug use.

"The Elks Drug Awareness Program is a logical complement to our other youth programs, which include sponsorship of Scout troops and sports teams, the Elks Hoop Shoot basketball free throw program, and the awarding of more scholarships than anyone else nationwide except the federal program."

The local anti-drug program is part of a nationwide campaign

by the Elks that began in 1983.

The government's volunteer agency, ACTION, assisted the Elks in developing the activity.

Workers' memorial service on Saturday

The Greater Madison County Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO, has asked its 93 affiliated union locals to participate in a workers' memorial service Saturday, April 28, at 10:30 a.m. at the ellipse on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus, under the flagpoles.

The ceremony is in conjunction with other AFL-CIO services held around the country to honor those who have been killed or injured on the job and to increase public awareness of job site dangers.

The flags area at SIUE was chosen because of the commemorative plaque at that location naming five workers who were killed during construction of the university between May 15, 1964, and Oct. 14, 1965.

Robert G. Esterlin, 61, a carpenter from Edwardsville, died as the result of the cave-in of a 16-foot hole while he was at the bottom building concrete pouring frames on May 15, 1964.

Wayne Kirby, 28, an ironworker, died due to injuries suffered from a 90-foot fall from near the top of the mushroom-shaped water tower on the campus Jan. 26, 1965.

Two laborers, Norman Strammann of Edwardsville and Loren Wall of Sorento, were killed when the crane boom they were using to load concrete forms onto a truck came in contact with a 7,200-volt power line on May 13, 1965.

Herschel Jones of Edwardsville, the father of four, died as a result of injuries suffered when a cable snapped and allowed the boom of a crane to fall on him during the construction of the University Center.

The ceremony will begin with an eight-piece band of Musicians Local 98 volunteers playing the national anthem. David McIlwaine, international representative of the AFL-CIO Union Label and Service Trades Council, will sing the anthem.

United Steelworkers of America District 34 director and Illinois State AFL-CIO executive board member Buddy Davis will speak on job-site hazards.

Three Madison County attorneys, Tom Lakin, Marshall Zeke Smith and Randy Bono, will speak on the dangers of asbestos.

The names of the five workers killed during construction of the SIUE campus will be read, followed by the laying of a wreath at the plaque that has their engraved names.

The ceremony will include more music and a moment of silence in respect to deceased union members.

The federation also has requested that all Madison County cities and townships pass a resolution recognizing April 28 as Worker Memorial Day and to acknowledge the sacrifices and potential dangers of job sites.

The Illinois House has passed HJR 91 and the Senate has enacted SR 775 recognizing that 300 workers are killed on the job each year in Illinois.

When children must take care of children

"Our Changing Families — Who Will Do the Caring?" — an annual conference — is set for May 11 at the Clarion Hotel. The meeting is co-sponsored by the Suburban Journals. This is the second of a four-part series on the family. Remaining articles will be printed in the days leading up to the conference.
By Mary Shapiro
Staff writer

"Just you wait till Mom gets home!"

That war cry is being heard in more and more homes with children, as a harried older brother or sister tries to lay down the law to younger kids.

As, increasingly, both parents in a family hold down full-time jobs — and with the rise of single-parent families — the job of managing the children often falls to a child.

Michael Wilson, a therapist at the west county office of Provident Counseling, says a family often ends up with a "parentified" teen.

"The effect it has is the child learns to put himself second. They feel that they don't count," he says.

"And they discover that they're never quite good enough. They're trying to be good enough in making care of the other kids to make their parents love them enough to take care of them. But they can't do it. They can feel inadequate and lost."

Very often, these youngsters are being asked to take on responsibilities — parents to younger siblings and to their parents, as well as being, say, president of the student body or captain of the football team.

"They want to become parents to everybody in the world. When they grow up, they try to become parents to anyone they can parent. They're very self-blaming. Everything that happens to them is their fault. They even take blame for things like problems in Nicaragua and the wrong person becoming president — literally!" adds Wilson.

Other children in a family can find the situation tough, as well. Wilson says they can take on different roles than they normally would.

One will wind up trying to blend into the background. "They become someone you never see" — while another might constantly be getting into trouble and become the family scapegoat.

"But these kids also are developing a feeling of being inadequate and confused and lonely and hurt. Usually, every kid in the family feels very lonely," Wilson says.

Deborah Meyerson, a therapist at the south county office of Provident Counseling, adds, "Teen-agers can become so accustomed to caring for others that they can't recognize their own needs. In adulthood, they may marry someone they have to take care of. They're out of touch with themselves. And what often happens when they're older is they're overly controlled and find it hard to be spontaneous."

(Continued from Page 1A) going to knock it down with a high lift," Brown said. "We didn't want to wait a year and screw around it court. It's a dangerous situation."

Charlie Patrick said she had called Kienstra employees a couple of times, but Chris Kienstra said this was the first time he had heard about the problem.

Still, Kienstra promised to make the site safe, even though it is on property leased from the railroad by the company. He said the tunnel would be sealed up as well.

Kienstra said he was glad to have learned about the hazard, saying he didn't need any publicity suits from someone being injured on the site.

"I'm glad somebody called," he said. "You go along thinking everything is fine.... All it takes is a phone call."

Our Changing Families WHO WILL DO THE CARING?

of specialness with their parents — so a child cared for may feel the older one is more special to parents.

Peggy Keilholz, a therapist at north county's Provident Counseling, says, "Nowadays, the pressure on urban families is much greater than it used to be on rural families, when older kids always helped out with the younger ones," she says.

"Due to the mobility of people today, you don't have an extended family available to help out — that support system of aunts and nieces and grandparents who used to be available in a bind. Those relatives may live thousands of miles away."

Teens today are under a lot of school, peer and even job stress. Much of that pressure is considerably more intense than the problems facing their elders when they were young.

"If they're also responsible for the younger children in a family, they're up with a caretaker directing the lives of children who may be facing those same pressures. The problem is, that stress can't be resolved — these crises herself," Keilholz adds.

"Adolescents just don't have the same life experiences as parents do."

In fact, teens can be harmed if they're put in the position of having to grow up too soon.

Experts say that is often seen in situations where parents aren't available to youngsters, especially in instances that involve excessive drinking or drug use.

It's the nature of older children, in a vacuum, to step into the parental role," Keilholz explains.

So it's not unusual, in some cases, to find kids 10 years old essentially running a household. Parents can be barriers because of their careers or if they're on their own. But parents need to be parents.

Adolescents pressed into adult roles too soon, she says, can spend much of their adult lives trying to reclaim a lost childhood — trying to experience joy and freedom with no responsibilities.

Says Keilholz, "People need to learn how to have a good time as teens. That contributes to reduced stress later on."

In some instances, of course, it's unavoidable that older siblings take up the slack to keep a family together. But, if they have to move into a command role, communication between parents and those older children has to be paramount — teens shouldn't be afraid to discuss difficulties.

Keilholz points out, "We need to convey to older children that we want to see them grow and be respected as individuals and as a family together. But, if they have to move into a command role, communication between parents and those older children has to be paramount — teens shouldn't be afraid to discuss difficulties."

Parents group to meet in St. Louis

Parents Without Partners, Zone F Conference, will hold a "Meet Me in St. Louis" conference April 27-29 at the Sheraton South Hotel in St. Louis.

Workshops on area concepts, programs and an education clinic will be offered.

International president Richard will be among the speakers. Other international officers the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Rochester School of Medicine in New York. "Our main problem is authority," he says.

"Younger kids may resent being bossed about. There's the question of the older child having responsibility without authority. That tends to come about because parents feel insecure."

"If a parent gives over too much control to the older sibling, they feel they're losing their parenthood. And they may feel guilty about giving over so much responsibility to the eldest."

Teens, he says, "end up missing out on a piece of their childhood." That's especially true if their education is delayed out of their parents' hands. But parents can feel, financially, they don't have much option. Kids filling in is seen as adaptive.

"People are trying to get by and cope and adapt. It's not ideal but it's understandable how the situation can evolve," Stanton says.

He adds that parents can help a lot by leaving clear instructions for the child — and maybe even getting the eldest teaching in first-aid so they can respond well in case of an emergency.

Baker Symes, a clinical therapist at the Clayton office of Provident Counseling, says the situation of adolescent as caretaker is probably with us to stay.

"It's an increasing phenomenon where parents work and child care is getting so expensive," he says.

"Adolescents can feel resentful if they're getting no compensation at all from their parents, they often feel they're doing the dirty work for their parents. Teen-agers necessarily feel responsibility for younger kids, and the loss of their own social life can breed resentment."

And there are difficulties the younger child has to deal with. It's how responsible younger teens might be and how capable they are of looking after a younger child when they themselves might need looking after.

Moore takes risk combining comedic, serious themes

Dudley Moore has received consistently high grades for his work in comedies such as "Arthur," "10," and "Foul Play," his first American film in 1970. But critics have given him much lower marks for his work in more serious films, such as "Six Weeks" from 1982.

That's why the combining of comedic and serious themes in Moore's latest film, "Crazy People," makes it a gamble for the actor.

Moore plays Emory Leeson, a top-notch advertising writer who suffers a nervous breakdown and is sent by his company to a mental institution for rehabilitation. While there, he recruits members of his group therapy session to write advertising copy. The exercise is designed to help him come up with ideas and, at the same time, help the patients gain confidence in themselves. The problem is that some moviegoers think the film treats the topic too comically.

"I know there has been some mail and things like that, but

Dudley Moore
... brings personal touch

Moore, 55. "The title is meant to infer that the advertising executives are the ones who are really out of it. The people at the home are really more realistic and loving individuals than those on the outside."

If anybody is upset about the film, it ought to be people in the advertising business itself, Moore said.

"You don't have to look too closely at anything in this film to quickly ascertain that it is a complete spoof," he said. "The whole picture is a fable about how ludicrous the advertising business is. It shouldn't be interpreted as anything else. It's just for fun."

Still, some elements of the script that touch on unusual behavior reminded Moore of his personal experiences.

Moore, who is 5-foot-4, said smaller kids have to strive for recognition as individuals.

"And that's really what the people in this film do: they create their own new lives," he said. "The dynamic of work that Emory brings to his fellow patients excites them because it all has to do with honesty, something in which they have all been craving to indulge."

Moore acknowledges that like any actor, he brings a personal touch to every movie. But unlike many of his contemporaries, he never considers tampering with a script.

"I'm very respectful of the written word," he said. "The improvisation comes in the way dialogue is delivered and feelings are expressed. That's called acting, you know. I'm not about to screw around with someone else's words. But if I can make those words and actions look spontaneous and unrehearsed, then I've done my job."

Though Moore has long studied the performing arts, he has changed courses over the years since his birth in Dagenham, England, where he played the violin as a child. After receiving a scholarship to study the organ at Oxford's prestigious Magdalen College, he began appearing with a university review named "Beyond the Fringe" and later teamed with Peter Cook in a comedy act and in several films.

Now an accomplished pianist, Moore has recorded numerous albums, scored several motion pictures and appeared in concert with the Los Angeles Philharmonic and at Carnegie Hall. He also has learned to balance dual careers in film and music.

Baggin' It

Bringing Lunch To Work Now A Regal Alternative

By Janice Denham
Journal Food Editor

Move over, cafeteria food, because here comes the lunch box brigade. The brigade's armor is more than peanut butter sandwiches, more than a bag of chips, more than a chocolate cupcake. The front line, camouflaged in kraft paper or in fancy bags, stands ready with croissants, crispy wheat crackers, microwavable leftovers and moist baked desserts.

Liberation has come with the office kitchen, turning brown bagging from a poor man's legacy into a regal alternative. Office refrigerators come in all sizes and microwaves over a turn cold, hard sandwiches into melted delights.

Battleground rules still apply. If no refrigerator is available, such as in the school lunchroom, pack a frozen solid next to food that should be kept cool. The frozen item can be a ready pack that comes back home to be reheated or a can of fruit juice, fruit sauce or even pudding. If the frozen item is packaged in glass, allow for expansion. Sandwiches pack sturdily when frozen; then defrost over the long morning.

Fruit can be an ally in the battle against heavy, dry, boring lunches. Take an apple, for instance. It keeps the glue of peanut butter moving on a cool sandwich—with or without bread. An apple is a totally edible package that when hollowed, holds chicken or tuna salad. If and almost any other fruit can become an integral part of chicken salad. It becomes an instant winner with spreadable cheese. Taken along in its original portable container, an apple can keep mid-morning starvation at bay or interrupt a boring stake-out in mid-afternoon.

Fruit's moistness is a perfect addition to sweet endings as lunch sounds its retreat. Dried fruit is as welcome in baked goods today as it was in pioneer times. Dried apricots, prunes, apples and figs contribute good nutrition, as well as delicious flavor, to lunchtime favorites.

Fresh fruit, orange juice and applesauce are easy to use in baked goods. They can usually be frozen, too. Wrap baked goods individually in airtight wrap or plastic bags so they can be on hand for variety and instant use.

A quick zap in a microwave oven makes them taste as if they just came out of an oven.

Apple-icious Cookies

- 1 cup flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. allspice
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 egg whites or 1 whole egg
- 2 cups uncooked oats
- 1 cup unsweetened applesauce
- 1/2 cup chopped raisins

Mix flour, baking powder, allspice and salt. Beat margarine and sugar until creamy. Add egg whites. Beat well. Add dry ingredients. Stir in oats, applesauce and raisins, mixing well.

Drop by level tablespoonful on greased baking sheet. Bake 11 minutes at 375° or until edges are lightly browned. Cool on rack before serving.

Makes about 5 dozen.

Saucy Apple Swirl

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 pkg. (2 layer) yellow cake mix
- 1 1/2 cups applesauce
- 3 eggs

Blend sugar and cinnamon. Grease tube or fluted pan. Blend yellow cake mix, applesauce and eggs. Beat as directed on cake mix box. Reserve 1 1/2 cups batter. Pour rest of batter into prepared pan. Sprinkle with rest of cinnamon mixture. Top with reserved batter. Bake at 350° for 35 to 45 minutes. Invert on serving plate to cool completely.

Apricot Crumble

- 1 cup dried apricots
- 1 1/2 cups plus 3 tbsp. water
- 2 tbsp. brown sugar, if desired
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/4 tsp. salt, if desired
- 1/4 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 1 cup all-bran cereal

In 2-quart saucepan, simmer apricots in 1 1/2 cups water, uncovered, about 20 minutes or until tender. Purée apricot, liquid and 2 tablespoons brown sugar in electric blender or food processor. While apricots are simmering, in large mixing bowl, combine flour, 1/2 cup brown sugar, salt and cinnamon. Using pastry blender, cut in margarine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in cereal. Mix well. Add 1 tablespoon water. Mixture will be crumbly. Set aside 1 cup of mixture.

With back of spoon, press remaining mixture firmly in bottom of ungreased 9-inch square baking pan. Spread puréed apricots evenly over cereal mixture, pressing lightly. Sprinkle with reserved cereal mixture, spreading evenly. Bake in 350° oven about 35 minutes or until lightly browned.

Cool completely. Cut in 12 bars to serve.

Orange-Fig Muffins

- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 tbsp. baking powder
- 3 cups oat bran cereal flakes
- 1/2 tsp. grated orange peel
- 1 1/2 cups orange juice
- 3 tbsp. oil
- 2 egg whites
- 1 cup chopped figs

Stir together flour, sugar and baking powder.

In large mixing bowl, combine cereal, orange peel, orange juice, oil, egg whites and figs. Mix well. Add dry ingredients to cereal mixture, stirring only until combined. Portion batter evenly in 12 lightly greased 2 1/2-inch muffin cups. Bake in 400° oven about 25 minutes or until lightly browned.

Serve warm. Editor's Note: Muffins are a good brown bag alternative because they crumble less than sliced cake.

Apricot Bars

- 1 cup all-bran cereal
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 tsp. salt, if desired
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
- 1/4 cup margarine, softened
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 4 egg whites
- 1 cup (8 oz.) plain, low-fat yogurt
- 1 1/2 tsp. vanilla
- 1 cup chopped dried apricots
- 1 tsp. confectioner's sugar, if desired

Stir together cereal, flour, salt, baking soda, cinnamon and nutmeg. In large mixing bowl, beat together margarine and sugar until well combined. Mix in egg whites, yogurt, vanilla and apricots. Add cereal mixture, stirring until combined.

Spread in lightly greased 9-inch square baking pan. Bake in 350° oven about 35 minutes or until golden brown. Cool. Sprinkle with confectioner's sugar before serving. Cut in 12 bars.

Peanut Butter And Jelly Mix

- 1/2 cup peanut butter
- 2 tbsp. oil
- 2 cups square corn cereal
- 2 cups square rice cereal
- 1 cup dried banana chips
- 1/2 cup grape jelly
- 1 cup raisins

In 9-by-13-inch baking pan, heat peanut butter and oil in 325° oven 2 to 3 minutes until soft. Mix well. Gradually add corn and rice cereals and banana chips, stirring until all pieces are coated evenly. Bake 10 minutes. Stir in jelly (will not coat evenly). Bake 10 to 15 minutes. Stir in raisins. Spread on waxed paper to cool. Store in airtight container.

Makes 3 cups. Microwave directions: In large 4-quart microwave-safe bowl, cook peanut butter and oil on high 45 seconds or until soft. Mix well. Gradually add cereals and banana chips, stirring until all pieces are evenly coated. Cook on high 2 1/2 minutes. Stir in jelly (will not coat evenly). Cook 2 minutes on high. Spread on waxed paper to cool.

Microwave fast Skewer beef for quick fix that makes delicious dinner

Mustard-Honey Beef Strip Kabobs present a pretty picture for springtime entertaining. These delicate, light kabobs make health-conscious eating for two fun and easy. They also make a hearty appetizer.

This dish starts with boneless top sirloin steak, a protein-packed lean cut of beef. Always a favorite cut of beef, sirloin steak proves its versatility in this recipe. Tender and boneless, it works well in the microwave and also is a popular choice for cooking on skewers.

Partially frozen steak is cut in 1/4-inch thick strips and marinated for flavor in a sauce made of mustard, honey and pepper sauce. The meat strips then are woven back and forth like a ribbon on eight 6-inch bamboo skewers. For microwaving, the kabobs are arranged in spoke-like fashion on a rack, leaving the center empty.

Using a lower power setting ensures even cooking while maintaining the steak's tender qualities. In just six minutes, with a quick stop for rearranging, these tasty kabobs are ready to serve. Garnish with apple chunks or spiced apple rings, if desired.

To help busy cooks make the best use of their time and their microwave ovens, the Meat Board Test Kitchens and the Beef Board have published a 20-page booklet with information on cuts of beef—including roasts—suitable for microwaving, helpful microwave hints, facts about microwave cookware and 19 recipes that cook in a microwave oven in no more than 20 minutes.

To receive a copy of the booklet, send 50 cents to "Beef Is a Microwave Favorite," Meat Board, Department BMF, 444 North Michigan Ave., Chicago, IL 60611.

Mustard-honey beef strip kabobs

- 8 oz. boneless beef sirloin steak, cut 1 inch thick
- 2 tbsp. Dijon mustard

- 2 tsp. honey
- 2 tsp. water
- Dash pepper sauce
- Apple chunks or spiced apple rings, halved (optional)

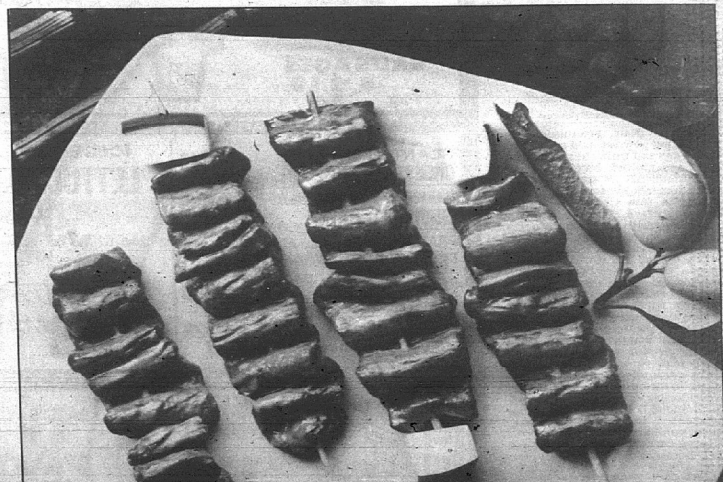

Partially freeze beef sirloin steak to firm. Slice in strips 1/4-inch thick.

Combine mustard, honey, water and pepper sauce. Place beef strips in bowl. Add marinade, turning beef to coat.

Thread beef strips on eight 6-inch bamboo skewers. Arrange in spoke-like fashion on rack in microwave-safe baking dish. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave at medium (50 percent power) 3 minutes. Turn over kabobs and reverse ends of skewers from center to outside. Cook, covered, at medium power 2 1/2 to 3 minutes.

Garnish kabobs with apple chunks.

Microwave cooks complete dinner

By Kathy Hanewinkel
Home economist

So you've got a microwave. Are you using it?

"Yes, I am," you say, "I cook and heat up all my vegetables in it."

Well, great start, but what about your main dish and side dishes?

"Now wait a minute," comes the answer, "I only have one microwave, not three."

That's OK, too, because that's all you need. If your microwave came with a rack or shelf, put it to use. Even if you don't have a rack, but have a mid-size or larger oven, more than one food can be cooked at a time on the tray or a makeshift or bought rack can be used.

"But it seems so hard to do it at one time." It is just a new skill, like doing several items at once on the stove. At one time that seemed a little overwhelming, too, but not any more.

In the microwave oven, more food takes more time. Just take care not to try to cook too much because an oven loses its efficiency with too much food.

"How much is too much food?"

That depends on the size, wattage and engineering of the oven. Here are a few generalizations. One potato—even four potatoes—are fine. Twelve potatoes take as much time as in a conventional oven. Lasagna up to 6 or 8 servings saves time over conventional baking. When cooking everything at once for four people, a microwave can be a timesaver, but for more it will delay the meal. "How do I figure the timing?" Just look it up in a microwave cookbook or add it up yourself. Here are some tips:

• One medium potato or other food will take 3 to 4 minutes on high power. Twice that amount will take 7 to 10 minutes on high power.

• If each food individually (2 to 4 items) takes less than 15 minutes, add all the times together and subtract 5 minutes.

• If each item (2 to 3 items) takes 15 to 30 minutes, add the time together and subtract 10 minutes.

Legal secretaries award scholarship

Carmen D. Behiter is the winner of the 1989 scholarship awarded by the Madison County Legal Secretaries Association, it is announced this week.

Behiter, a resident of Wood River, is currently attending Lewis and Clark Community College. She plans to graduate from LCCC in the fall of 1992 with a specialty in becoming a legal administrative assistant.

In addition to education, she is involved with the Boy Scouts, her church and the Neighborhood Watch program. Behiter will be recognized at the Madison County Legal Secretaries Association's regular meeting at 6:30 p.m. May 1 at Rusty's in Edwardsville.

Installation of officers also will take place at the May 1 meeting. John A. Farrell, an attorney from Godfrey, will install the officers and provide legal education to the members.

The Madison County Legal Secretaries Association was organized in 1970 and membership is open to those who are employed as a legal secretary or those who work in a law related field. A class of membership is also available to attorneys, judges, educators and students.

The scholarship is available to high school seniors or college students who intend to enter the legal secretarial profession and/or law related fields.

Scholarships have been awarded for more than 15 years.

Members and others in the legal field who are interested in attending the dinner meeting may contact Lynne Hullinger at 466-9080 by Friday, April 27.

'Chosen' to appear at City Temple

City Temple Assembly of God, 4701 Maryville Road, will welcome "Chosen," the gospel singing group, at 7 p.m. Sunday, April 29. The public is invited.

"Chosen" and their group leader, Milton Ostrander ("Big MO"), travel throughout the nation singing in churches and at fairs, colleges and the "Grand Ole Opry."

In the five years since its organization, the group has made seven "Top 40" gospel hits, has been nominated in the Top 10 new groups in the nation and set a record for producing a "Top 40" hit after only five months of singing together.

Ostrander, a talented song writer, had several of his songs recorded by the Blackwoods, the South Boys, the Nelons and his own group.

Improvements at Church of Christ

New gravel was added to the Pontoon Beach Church of Christ parking lot recently, the first of many improvements to the church planned for this summer.

The outdoor improvements are a reflection of the improved attitudes on the inside, according to Dale Peery, new minister. Peery is teaching a class on how to study the Bible each Sunday morning at 10:45. The public is invited to come and share the insights presented in this class.

Four new singing groups are being formed at the Pontoon Beach church and plans are being discussed, concerning outdoor concerts this summer to be held on the church grounds. Sunday School begins at 10:45 a.m. immediately after morning worship services which start at 9:30. Evening services begin at 7. There is also a Wednesday

SKIN CANCER SCREENING

According to the American Cancer Society, over 500,000 new cases of skin cancer are reported every year, making it the most common form of human cancer. Fortunately, however, skin cancer is one of the most treatable and curable forms of cancer provided it's discovered early. Better still, most skin cancer can be prevented.

The Program:

Memorial Hospital's Skin Cancer Screening Program is an outpatient service designed to help you detect precancerous and/or cancerous skin lesions. Skin cancerous lesions occur most frequently on exposed skin surfaces, such as the head, arms and legs.

Memorial Hospital's Skin Cancer Screening physicians—members of Memorial's Medical Staff who are volunteering their services for this screening—will examine the head, arms and legs for suspicious skin lesions. Any other areas of concern will be examined at the patient's request.

Screenings are conducted by appointment only. If you are on a restricted time schedule, please understand that there may be a brief wait before being seen by the physician.

Date, Time, Place:

Screenings will be conducted on Tuesday, May 8 and Thursday, May 10 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Memorial's Physical Therapy Department Information: To schedule an appointment, call the Physical Therapy Department at 233-7750, extension 5250.

The Skin Cancer Screening is being conducted as a free community service by volunteer Plastic Surgeons and Dermatologists from Memorial Hospital's Medical Staff by Memorial Hospital Group, Inc. and Memorial Foundation, Inc. on behalf of Memorial Hospital.

The Legacy golf course developing right on schedule

The Legacy, an 18-hole public golf course being developed in Granite City, is on schedule to open in the fall.

Hale Irwin Golf Services Inc., initially hired to set up the golf operation, was awarded a 10-year management contract last fall by local developers WGWW Engleke Corporation. Progress has been steady on the course, which will be the center of a 108-home luxury-class community just off Illinois 162 in the northeastern part of town.

Hale Irwin Golf Services and the golf club hired Bob Schellenbach as golf course superintendent in September from Deer Creek Golf Club. Schellenbach is working with T. Bills Construction Co., a general contractor, in coordinating day-to-day construction and turf maintenance activities.

Turf seeding is under way, directed by Dennis O'Brien, the regional superintendent for Irwin's four metro courses. Westwood Bermuda grasses are being introduced to provide a plush and hardy turf year-round.

Architectural plans for the clubhouse are being finalized by Wilkins-Reidman and Associates Inc. The clubhouse will be home to a full-service restaurant and banquet center overlooking the 18th green. Seven lakes, a practice green and a practice range are also planned for the 6,550-yard, par 71 course.

a tournament in Las Vegas against UCLA and UNLV before the Hoosiers return home to games with Virginia (co-national champion) and San Francisco.

Softball

"Dawn is good with the bat and she has a solid arm," said Hutchings. "With some experience she'll be a great contributor in years to come."

The Lady Warriors travelled to Belleville East on Tuesday to face the defending state champions in a makeup of the April 10 rainout. Granite City is then off until next Tuesday.

WHEN DOGWOODS BLOOM, homeowners flock to nurseries to add this beautiful tree to their landscapes.

Dogwood trees offer year-round beauty

By Timothy Gamma

It really doesn't seem like spring until the dogwoods bloom.

Although dogwoods are most spectacular in spring, they offer year-round beauty: rich green foliage in summer, deep-red leaves in fall and bright-red clusters of seeds in winter.

The dogwood that grows in the woods has white flowers. But cultivated varieties of this tree, Cornus florida, include Cherokee Chief, which has deep-red flowers. Rubrum is the original pink dogwood. Rainbow has white flowers, and variegated foliage which adds more interest in summer.

When dogwoods bloom, homeowners flock to nurseries to add this beautiful tree to their landscapes. But all too often, they become discouraged after the beautiful blooming specimen they had seen in the nursery becomes brown and dry because of improper care.

Following some key guidelines will greatly increase your chance of success with dogwoods:

After choosing a healthy tree, select a suitable location. In the forest, dogwoods grow beneath the canopy of large hardwoods where organic matter and natural surface mulch are present. When planted in full sun and poorly drained soil, stunted growth or leaf scorch usually results, sometimes killing the tree. Plant dogwoods in at least partial shade so that they will be shielded from the intense sun.

In urban settings, a regular maintenance program is necessary. Watering, pruning, fertilizing and mulching are keys to good plant vigor. Dry soil conditions are commonplace during St. Louis summers. Weekly waterings with a soaker hose will benefit these shallow-rooted plants. Prune dead, diseased and broken branches from trees annually.

Additional fertilizer after leaf expansion will give the tree a boost. Perhaps the most beneficial step one can take in protecting the tree's health is to mulch. An organic mulch of partially decomposed leaves, bark, wood chips or pine needles will conserve moisture and add nutrients.

Horticulturist Timothy W. Gamma is president of the St. Louis Arborist Association.

The point 14999¢ where many of today's cars run out of gas.

It happens so much sooner than you would think. At around 15,000 miles, the engines in many of today's cars start suffering from octane starvation. They simply lose their oomph. They get sluggish, unresponsive.

HAS IT HAPPENED TO YOU?

Sometimes it's hard to tell because it's a gradual process and different for every car. It can depend on the type of driving you do, the kind of engine your car has, and the gasoline you've been burning. There are, however, several signals your engine sends that can act as a warning.

KNOCK, KNOCK, WHO'S THERE?

One of the most noticeable signs is engine knock. You press down on your accelerator, and instead of a smooth purr you hear a kapokata-kapokata coming from your engine. "Who's there," is an ineffective mixture of gasoline vapor and air that's simply not cooperating with your spark plugs. The mixture that provides the power to move your pistons up and down has been crippled by engine deposits. Only a portion of it is igniting...what's left holds back, then explodes in protest. That's what you hear. Even turning up the radio won't make it go away. But it's easily fixable.

KNOCK SENSORS HIDE THE PROBLEM, BUT DON'T SOLVE IT.

Many of today's engines are equipped with knock sensors that mechanically retard the spark so that knocking doesn't occur. But that really doesn't fix anything. Because the spark is retarded, acceleration wanes, power is lost. The only way to detect this phenomenon is to remember what happened when you pressed the accelerator to the floor when your car was brand new. If you have 15,000 miles on the odometer, and you feel a sluggishness that didn't occur in the earlier days of your car's life, you've got a problem. Again...easily solved.

THE KEY'S OFF, BUT THE CAR'S STILL RUNNING.

Engine run-on. Another sign of trouble. You turn off the ignition, but your engine keeps chugging along. Not quite as embarrassing as, say, an unexpected burp in church, but not exactly comforting either. What's happened is a bunch of carbon deposits have been building up in your cylinders during the first 15,000 miles of your engine's life. Even though your ignition is off, these nasty deposits retain engine heat and glow red hot to create a false spark that ignites the air/fuel mixture left in your cylinders. You're continuing to burn fuel, even though you're not going anywhere. It's easy to correct.

LOOK FOR THE SILVER LINING.

The solution to all these troublesome glitches exists today in a remarkable engine cleaning gasoline called Amoco Silver. Amoco Silver is the sensible remedy for problems caused by your engine's increased craving for octane. Amoco Silver is a step up from pure regular unleaded gasoline. Its higher octane can eliminate run-on and bring back the power that was there when your car was brand new. And since your engine's octane appetite stabilizes at around 15,000 miles, it may be all you'll ever need to keep your car's engine running the way it was designed to run. Amoco Silver. It's that simple.

$1.00 OF FREE AMOCO SILVER GASOLINE UPON PURCHASE OF EIGHT GALLONS

Next time you purchase a minimum of eight gallons of Amoco Silver Lead-Free gasoline at the posted retail price, present this coupon and receive $1.00 worth of additional Silver gasoline on the spot. Offer valid only at participating Amoco dealers in the states of Kansas, Illinois and Missouri. Void if altered or reproduced. Limit one coupon per purchase. Redeemable only for Silver gasoline and at the time of purchase of original gallons not for cash. Offer expires May 31, 1990.
